

Keya Advertising

Billings, MT, 59105

info@keyaadvertising.com

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

July 22, 2026

Link to video:

Eastern Shoshone hosts September opioid summit in Riverton

The Eastern Shoshone Tribe's Doya Natsu Healing Center hosts a Community Healing Opioid Summit at Central Wyoming College in Riverton, Sept. 24 and 25, 2026.

The summit will have four break-out sessions focusing on:

- Community healing practices
- Focus on families
- Cultural healing
- Addiction science

The event features keynote speakers Theda New Breast, Cecelia FireThunder, Toqua Ticeahkie, Jim Shuler and Waylon "Pee" Pahoma Jr.

Marcus RedThunder, actor and technical director on the A&E Network and Netflix series Longmire, is the emcee.

Taboo of the Black Eyed Peas will start the summit with a special taped message to the attendees.

Registration is ongoing, and there's a limit of 200 participants. Find more details and register at: <https://www.eventleaf.com/e/CommunityHealingOpioidSummit>

Gabe Grande, left, and Toy Desjarlais view the restored buffalo herd of the Wind River Tribal Buffalo Initiative. The herd helps promote tribal cultural and community healing. Grande was shooting a promo for the Eastern Shoshone's Community Healing Opioid Summit at Central Wyoming College in Riverton, set for Sept. 24 and 25, 2026. Photo by Orville Desjarlais